Key Features of Tiered Positive Behavior Support Across the Lifespan

Jennifer Jeffrey-Pearsall*, Rachel Freeman, Jessica Simacek, & Dani Dunphy
University of Minnesota

Purpose of Presentation

- Learn about how to start implement tiered PBS in organizations
- Review an interdisciplinary state standard of practice
- Share examples of how to leverage implementation science to support high fidelity, culturally responsive implementation
- Explore a range of resources to support initial planning an implementation of culturally responsive PBS

Positive Supports
MINNESOTA

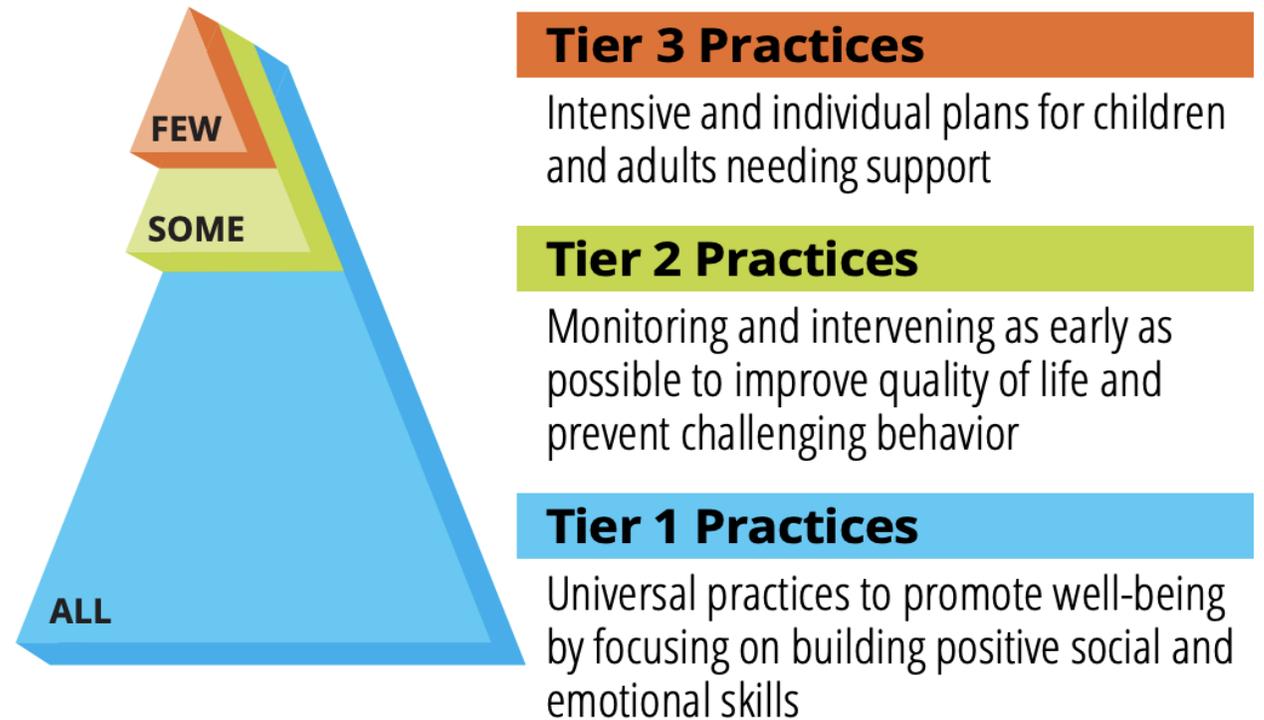

Essential Features of PBS

- Positive changes in lifestyle reflect unique cultural values
- Supports occur across a person's lifespan and with all of the settings in a child or adult's life
- Children and adults are empowered to seek their best lives
- Challenges are prevented, in part, by considering changes in the setting, not the person
- Progress is measured using data
- Foundational principles from behavioral and biomedical science are used to improve lives
- Multiple fields of study and practices are integrated using systems change

Assessing Quality of Life and Across the Lifespan: Improving Wellness in Mental Health and Disability

SAMHSA's Eight Dimensions of Wellness

- Social — Developing a support system/feeling connected to others
- Emotional — Skills to cope with stress and negative life outcomes
- Spiritual — Search for meaning/sense of purpose
- Intellectual — Knowing one's strengths and expanding wisdom and skills
- Environmental — Living in positive settings that support well being
- Financial — Satisfaction with current finances and future plans
- Occupational — Obtaining a sense of positive meaning from one's work

Quality of Life and IDD

- Emotional Wellbeing — Feelings of happiness or contentment, feeling comfortable and safe at home and in the community
- Interpersonal Relationships — Receiving affection and love at home and in the community, connecting with others
- Material Wellbeing — Being able to purchase items that one wants or needs, owning items or property
- Personal Development — Learning and evolving as a person in education and life
- Physical Wellbeing — Maintaining optimal health and mobility
- Self-Determination — Making one's own important life decisions and life goals
- Social Inclusion — Feeling included as part of a community and building meaningful connections with others
- Rights — Being able to have one's right to privacy and freedom and access to legal support, to vote and engage in civic responsibilities

- ✓ A parent or a loved one of a person receiving services

All people want to be respected, have choices, and feel safe.

Positive supports are approaches that are used to help people using a variety of proven support strategies that do not include punishment or seclusion.

But positive supports are much more than that. Positive supports are about respecting the dignity and rights of every person while offering individualized and effective services.

Whether someone is receiving mental health, housing, educational, disability, or any other services meant to improve a person's life, positive supports:

- Build on a person's unique strengths, assets, interests, expectations, cultures, and goals,
- Respect the rights and individuality of each person, and

Phases of Implementation

Integrating Cultural Inclusiveness Into Implementation Science

Competency Driver (example from St Louis County MN)

"Let's have a [Pow Wow] to discuss."

Using a [cultural gathering] to describe a meeting diminishes its significance. A Pow Wow is an important part of my heritage.

"You know how all [those people] are...."

Negatively generalizing a whole group indicates that everyone [in that group] is the same.

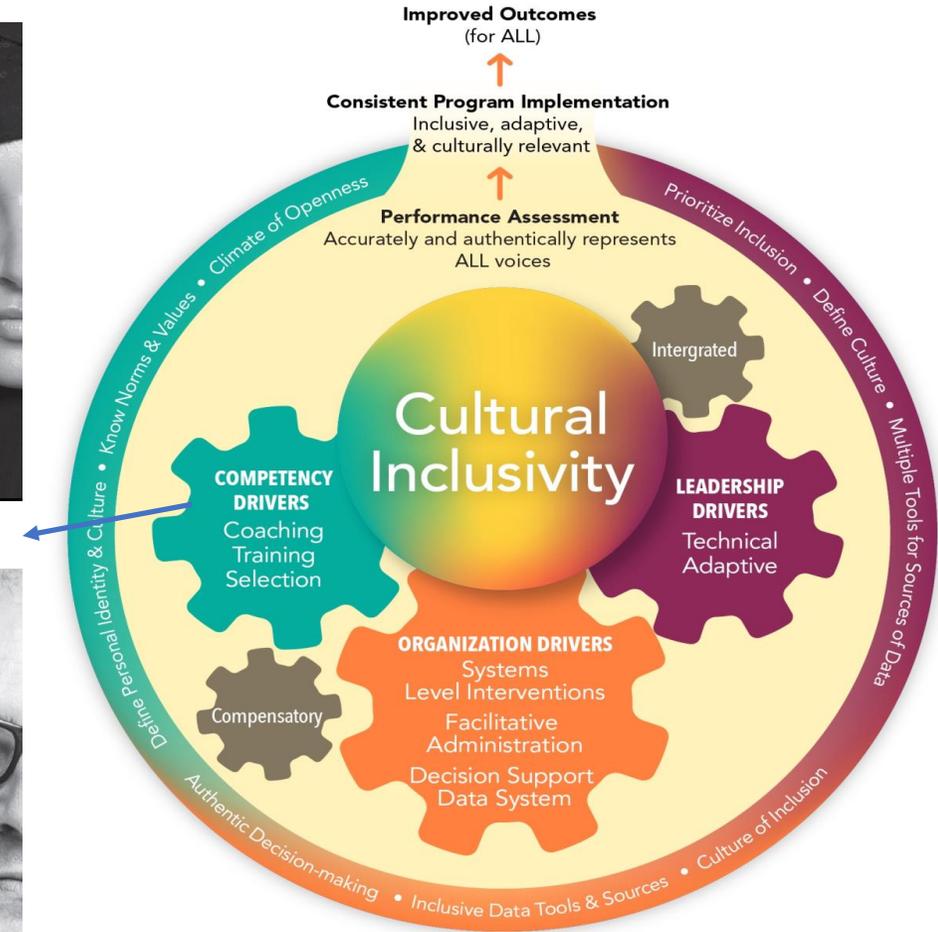

"That's so [R-WORD]."

The word [Retarded] puts down people with disabilities and using it to describe something you dislike is hurtful.

"That's so [gay]."

Comparing someone's [sexual orientation] to something you don't like creates a negative correlation to who I am. I'm proud to be gay.

Organization Driver

Organization Drivers
System Intervention	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Establish regional partnerships to share resources and support interagency collaboration Create a long-term planning with flexibility in acquiring funds for maintaining PBS Work with community partners to increase natural supports and create diverse community relationships Assess community partners and include diverse voices in leadership-level decisions Create authentic relationships with mutual give and take relationship/define culture in broadest terms
Facilitative Administration	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Ensure self-advocates, advocates, and family members are actively involved in leadership-level decisions Encourage and guide plans for increasing diversity in the workforce Create an environment where diverse viewpoints are respected and encouraged Assess impacts of discussions in an authentic manner and review current policies impacting diverse groups
Data-based Decision-Making Systems	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Teach data-based decision making in organization-wide and individualized teams Use effort, process, and outcome data in meetings including active involvement of self-advocates Use data to ensure equity is directly addressed and cultural competence/responsiveness is evaluated Use multiple sources of data collection in meetings, ensure all voices are heard, and review annual progress

Leadership Driver

Leadership Drivers
Technical	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Use problem solving to coordinate and manage technical assistance ● Use data to assess cultural responsiveness and actively seek out implicit bias ● Embed training in cultural competence into all curricula including how to identify your own cultural norms
Adaptive	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● Address complicated situations using collaborative problem solving ● Develop strong consensus-building approaches integrated across systems ● Attend to and adapt cultural norms, and verbal and body language to unique cultural contexts and people ● Create a climate of trust where people report that they feel safe to engage in open discussion.
